Winter 2008

"an aesthetic, unpolluted environment with a natural and historic heritage"

One of Our Own Honored

BCEQ Corresponding Secretary Jorge Santiago, pictured to the left with his paddle and Linda Cox, the Bronx River Alliance's Executive Director, was honored at its Annual Soiree on September 22nd.

When asked about the honor, Jorge said, "One of my biggest accomplishments for BCEQ was to have the Attorney General take action against the Bronx Zoo and Botanical Garden for Clean Water Act Violations."

SAVE THE DATE

2008 Holiday Meeting and Dinner

On December 10th, BCEQ Board and friends gathered at the Yankee Tavern to celebrate all of our successes for 2008 and to plan for the coming year. As we walked home onto 161st Street, we could not help but notice the new Yankee Stadium all lit up. Fun was had by all.

Dear Ivy,
I've heard a rumor that the Department of Sanitation is not collecting leaves this year? Is this true? What am I supposed to do?
Drowning in leaves in City Island

Dear Drowning in Leaves:
On September 22nd, 2008 the NYC Department of Sanitation announced that raked autumn leaves will be collected with regular household refuse on regularly scheduled days. So, while they will be collecting leaves, they will not be composting the leaves. Instead, leaves you rake up will join your household trash in a landfill. According to the Department of Sanitation this change in policy is due to the current economic situation.

So, what is an environmentally-minded person to do? You have a few options. You can start your own backyard leaf composting. The how to process is too long for this article but if you do a internet search you will find loads of helpful tips. Another suggestion is to call around to organization's that have their own compost sites and they may be willing to accept your leaves. Or you can rake up your leaves, bag them and save them for the spring. Leaves make great (and free!!!) mulch for your garden.

Dear Ivy,
I would like to use a deicer that is safe for my children, dog and the environment. Any suggestions?

Slipping and Sliding in Riverdale

Dear Slipping and Sliding:
Road Salt or Rock Salt is definitely not good to our beautiful environment. It has been found that road salt can kill trees, can change stream chemistry, and can even make amphibians refuse to cross a road which can separate them from their traditional breeding areas. And of course, it is not safe for your pets or children to ingest. It also breaks down and pits concrete sidewalks at a faster rate.

When purchasing a deicer you want to avoid Rock Salt or anything that contains Sodium Chloride. Ingredients to look for are Calcium Chloride or Magnesium Chloride -- both of which are relatively harmless to plants and animals, non-corrosive to metals and concrete. Unfortunately, these alternatives are too costly for widespread commercial applications so you won't see them being used on your local roads. But you can make a difference by using them on your walkways and sidewalks. Another way you can help is by using your shovel and only putting salt down when necessary to melt built-up ice after a storm has ended.

CALL FOR 2010
CALENDAR PHOTOGRAPHS

The upcoming BCEQ 2010 Calendar will have the theme "Bronx Water." Possible photographs of Bronx Water might include: rivers, ponds and lakes, water falls, storm water run-off, sprinklers and children in parks, water fountains, fire hydrants gatehouses, the Old Croton Aqueduct and artifacts of the Croton Water system etc. etc.

All photographs must be taken in the Bronx, have "a sense of place," and be clearly labeled with the following information: where the photo was taken, the date, and a brief description. Participants can submit a total of 7 photographs and submissions will be accepted all year—from January-October 2009. Photographs do not have to be taken in 2009. Photographs taken this past fall and early winter can be submitted. If your photographs have people in them, a release and/or permission waiver is needed before it can be published. This is the responsibility of the photographer. No photograph will be eligible for submission and posting without the waiver.

All submissions will be posted on the BCEQ website and in September members will be asked to comment and vote on photographs for inclusion in the 2010 calendar. The concept of "sense of place" has many definitions. In this case, the photographs should somehow represent the intrinsic character of a place, or the meaning people give to it, or a mixture of both. Some places are distinctive through their physical appearance, like the High Bridge over the Harlem River; others are distinctive, but have usefulness attached to them, like children playing in City Park sprinklers.

Jerome Park Reservoir Court Case Update and Mosholu Golf Course Parking Lot

On September 13th our iFocus (the online internet Focus) reported that the final decision by Justice Betty Stinson on the Order to Show Cause that many community groups and individuals, lead by BCEQ, brought against the New York City Department of Environmental Protection for trying to go against a promise they made to the people in 2004.

The NYC DEP thought they could use blasting for work around the Jerome Park Reservoir across the street from the Bronx High School of Science, and down the block from De Witt Clinton High School, School of American Studies at Lehman College, and Lehman College.

In not so many words, the decision said that the issue of blasting was withdrawn by the agency two business days before they appeared in the court on September 3rd. It also stated that since the DEP issued a study (also presented to the court two business days before the September 3rd appearance) that "hard look" satisfied the environmental law requirements. Looks like we made them do the right thing! Time will tell.

On another front, the DEP and DPR are proposing to build a parking lot for the golfers on land given back to the people at the southeast corner of Van Cortlandt Park, directly across the street from the Gun Hill Municipal Parking Garage. The Design Commission requested that the parking lot be redesigned to a smaller footprint or relocated further north. The Mosholu Golf Course has always prided itself as being the only municipal golf course located close to mass transit. Stay tuned.
